BACKGROUND

Based in the heart of Derbyshire, Queen Bees is a netball club like no other, bringing a warm friendly atmosphere into the increasingly popular sport of netball.

Over the last few years, since England's gold medal success in the 2018 Commonwealth Games, netball has seen a fantastic increase in interest and participation levels.

The boom in popularity is helping to close the gender gap in sports. Netball is the largest team sport for women, and continues to grow in popularity.

Funding from Legacy Leisure is helping to provide Queen Bees netball club with new training equipment and improved first aid kits for their four teams, helping to improve both their kit bag and their training sessions.

The new equipment will allow the club to open training to even more participants, enabling more members of the local community to train and take part in the sport.

Over 12 years, Queen Bees has offered a place for locals to join a fabulous and friendly social community, helping them to meet new friends and to keep fit. With the help from this funding, the club can continue to promote the sport and provide an active space for members of their local community.
